

TANK BAGPACK

Thank you for purchasing the VUZ Tank Bagpack Bag. We applaud you for a great decision, and welcome you to the VUZ family! Before hitting the road, read through these quick instructions to make sure you have the best fit possible for your bike & equipment.

WARNING: THIS BACKPACK IS AWESOME

For those unfamiliar with the science behind magnets, magnetic bags are meant to be used on bikes with metal tanks. Therefore, magnetic bags won't stick to plastic, wood, or any other interesting non-metal material your bike may be made out of.

If you're concerned about the mysterious powers of magnets and the affect they have on your cell phone, tablet, brain, and other electronic devices, it may be advisable to keep those items out of the bag. If you don't believe magnets can wipe your cell phone clean and steal your credit card number, go ahead and store items at your own risk. In all seriousness, magnets could interfere with some of these items in a limited capacity, so please be advised.

Use as Tank Bag:

If the magnetic wings are not in the "flying" position (or folded out), go ahead and remove them from the back cushion/cover so they are folded out from the sides of the backpack. If the backpack straps are engaged, unclip each strap and tuck into the back cushion/cover and make sure straps are not exposed.

Before placing the backpack on the bike, it's best to pack heavier items towards the bottom of the bag to create a lower center of gravity and better "stickage" to your bike. To attach, spread the magnetic wings apart and place the bag over the tank on your bike. Make sure the wings are smoothed flat onto the tank and that the magnets have a secure contact to the metal on the bike. Feel free to attach additional straps to the D-Rings on the backpack for extra security.

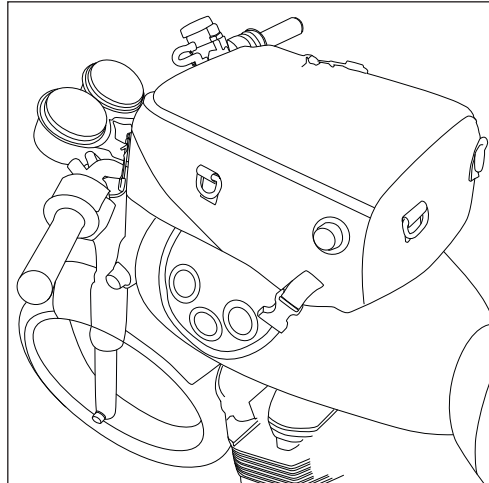

To remove, simply grab the wings of the bag and pull off. Well done!

Use as a Backpack:

With respect to the backpack straps and magnetic wings, they share the same storage spot on the bag (the back cushion). If one is in the storage place, the other is out. To use as a backpack pull the straps out (if not already) and tuck the magnetic wings into the storage place. Clip each strap to its respective clip on the base of the backpack so the shoulder straps now work. You got it woo hoo! Now you're ready to rock a cool backpack that was just secretly a tank bag on your bike. No one will know!

The bottle opener:

The bottle opener was included with this bag because it's a handy and convenient tool. However, we do not in any way encourage you to consume alcohol before riding. With that said, we hope you get much use out of your new tool sharing its awesomeness with friends. Cheers!
